Alumni Executive Council Meeting Secretary's Minutes

October 14, 1961

The meeting of the Executive Council of the General Alumni Association was held in Cogswell Hall, Saturday, October 14, 1961, at 10:30 a.m. The meeting was called to order by the President, Miss Helen M. Brennan, who stated that she considered it an honor to serve as President of the Alumni Association and she pledged her utmost in continuing the work that has been done, and to aid the administration in making Indiana grow bigger and better.

Miss Brennan introduced the platform guests Miss Marian Francis, Secretary; and Mr. Roy Ankeny, Vice President. The following members of the administration were also introduced: Dr. Willis E. Pratt, President; Miss Nancy Newkerk, Dean of Women; Dr. P. D. Lott, Chairman, Alumni Liaison Committee; Dr. Arthur F. Nicholson, Editor of the Alumni News Bulletin; and Mr. Samuel F. Furgiuele, a member of the Alumni Liaison committee.

The President requested a motion to omit the reading of the minutes of the May 27, 1961, meeting and to accept the minutes as published in the October 1961 issue of the Alumni New Bulletin. Motion was made by Miss Ann Carlin, seconded by Mrs. Adelaide Ramsay Clark, and approved.

Mrs. Sally Johnson was called upon to give her report on the Projects Committee meeting which had been held earlier in the day. She referred to the Annual Giving Program which had been initiated last year and reported that the contributions received amounted to $5,048.00 and pledges $1,363.50. She expressed regret that the Chairman of this project, Mrs. Audrey Graham, was not present because of a N.E.A. conference in Washington, D. C., and stated that the committee had not followed through on the plan of giving special attention to a pilot class to see what results might be obtained but that this program would be carried through this year and that the committee plan to meet in November to arrange procedures and to select class representatives who will probably meet at the college in January 1962. She also reported that the Projects Committee voted to make the vice president of the association a member of the Executive Council, and that the Committee had recommended that a letter go out from the Alumni Office early in November to arrange procedures and to select class representatives who will 1961-62 and contributions to the Annual Giving Fund. Mrs. Adelaide Clarke moved that the letters be sent and the motion was seconded by Mrs. Rose McManus.

Miss Brennan stated that since so many things were changing at Indiana that perhaps the name of the Projects Committee should be changed and asked the Executive Council to give it some thought.

Dr. Willis E. Pratt, President of the College, was asked to address the group. Dr. Pratt welcomed the Alumni to the campus and stated that many things had happened during the last few months and that during the next ten years even greater changes will take place. Dr. Pratt stated that we now have an enrollment of about 3,500 full-time undergraduate students, 200 part-time students, and 400 graduate students and that it is expected that the college enrollment will reach 5,600 students by 1970, and the campus will have thirty-four major buildings located on a campus of one hundred twenty acres in size. At the present time $9,000,000 has been appropriated for new buildings which will be constructed during the next two or three years, including five new dormitories, a home economics building, a new dining room, an addition to the science building of thirty classrooms, a new field house seating 5,000 people and a new athletic field which is now underway. Dr. Pratt also reported that the legislature authorized state colleges to offer work leading to the Bachelor of Arts and the Bachelor of Science degrees and that our faculty is now preparing a liberal arts curriculum which will be submitted to the State Council of Education for approval during the next year or two. He also stated that the American Association of University Women now includes Indiana on its accredited list. President Pratt concluded by wishing that many Alumni would return for the Spring Alumni Day.

Miss Brennan thanked Dr. Pratt and called on Dr. Arthur F. Nicholson to give his report on the Alumni News Bulletin and the Council of Alumni Associations of the Pennsylvania State Colleges.

Dr. Nicholson stated that he was trying to publish the bulletin with regard to the interest of the Alumni and that he has been experimenting with color and also trying to use a picture of each of the different buildings on campus for the cover. He then commented that Indiana was fortunate to have a man like Dr. Pratt who works "28 hours a day" for Indiana State College.

In discussing the Council of Alumni Associations of the Pennsylvania State Colleges, Dr. Nicholson said that he felt it was well worth our while to belong to the organization at a fee of $300 per year which was more reasonable than the previous assessment of $1,200. This group is co-operating with the Board of Presidents and other groups that are willing to work for the betterment of education.

Miss Brennan called for old business and, since there was none, she made the comment that she wondered if the alumni were keeping up with the pace of the administration in doing all it could for the growth and improvement of the college. She stated that those present should be the nucleus and go out and try to persuade others to join the Alumni Association.

Miss Brennan then called for new business and Dr. Nicholson was recognized.

Dr. Nicholson: "I feel that we are all in agreement, since many of us have relationships with the teaching profession with the contention, that there is nothing finer than a good teacher. When a good teacher becomes a great teacher, no one knows. It is because of the need to recognize fine teachers in whatever ways possible that I have been urged to propose the following resolution which I will ask our secretary, Miss Francis, to read."

Miss Francis: "Be it hereby resolved that we, the members of the Alumni Executive Council of the General Alumni Association of the State College at Indiana, Pennsylvania, meeting in session here today (October 14, 1961) at Cogswell Hall, as representatives of nearly 18,500 graduates of this institution, do respectfully urge and request that college authorities and other responsible concerned parties name the new athletic field at Indiana State College for Professor Emeritus George P. Miller, who over a period of thirty-five years served our college well and faithfully as a coach, teacher, friend and mentor of many students. His exemplary character served as an inspiration to literally thousands of Indiana students over the entire term of his service at Indiana State College.

"We respectfully suggest that this new physical education area at Indiana State College be named the George P. Miller Memorial Stadium or the George P. Miller Athletic Field or another appropriate title using the revered name of a great teacher and a fine fellow human being, George P. Miller."

Dr. Nicholson moved for the adoption of the resolution, it was seconded by Mrs. Sally Johnson and unanimously carried.

Dr. Pratt commented that two of our buildings have been named for people who are still living—Whitmyre Hall and Walsh Hall—but that the General State Authority had recently adopted a ruling which prohibits the naming of buildings for people who are still living. He indicated that he and the Board of Trustees are in favor of honoring Mr. Miller by naming the new athletic area the George P. Miller Memorial Stadium or the George P. Miller Athletic Field or another appropriate title using Mr. Miller's name but that it may present some problems.

Representatives from the following units gave reports: Johnstown, Mrs. Mary Kellar; Indiana, Mrs. Beatrice Jerko; Tri-Township, Mrs. Vivian Lovell; Pittsburgh, Miss Gladys Elcessor; Pittsburgh North Boros, Mrs.

Adelaide Clarke; Tarentum, Miss Edith Dawson; and Jeannette, Mrs. Dorothy Brown.

There being no further business to come before the meeting, it was upon motion adjourned at 11:30 a.m.

Respectfully submitted,
Marian I. Francis, Secretary

Graduate Studies Division

Reestablishes Study Program

"Indiana In Mexico"

Summer, 1962

In the summer of 1962 the Division of Graduate Studies at Indiana State College will reestablish its program of "Indiana in Mexico", in cooperation with the University of the State of Veracruz, Xalapa, Mexico, Dr. I. Leonard Stright, dean of graduate studies at the College in Indiana, said today.

This program is designed to enable interested Indiana students on the graduate level to spend six weeks in an important neighboring country, in intimate contact with an interesting and significant culture, blended from European and Indian sources.

The Indiana college participants in this program will normally devote half their time to an introduction to Mexican culture, past and present.

Beyond this core program they will chose from the following, in accordance with their individual interests: Comparative education, United States and Mexico, Introduction to anthropology of Mexico, geography of Mexico and the Caribbean, and Spanish language and literature.

Students will also have the opportunity to follow programs in folklore and arts and crafts on a non-credit basis. With the exception of Spanish language and literature, all courses will be presented in English.

Xalapa, Mexico, is located on the descent from the central plateau to the gulf coastal plain, at an altitude of 4,000 feet. Xalapa is in the tropics, but due to altitude the weather is never oppressively hot. This area is the coffee center of Mexico, and is important in the production of sugar and tropical fruits.

In addition to the six-week session, approximately coincident with the main session on the Indiana State College campus, there will be an optional geography field course which will take the interested group on a circle tour of Southeastern Mexico, touching Veracruz, Catemaco, Coatzacoalcos, Istmus of Tehuantepec, Oaxaca and Puebla on the return to Mexico City.

Non-geographers will have the option of accompaning the group; others may prefer to return to Mexico City with a conductor to become better acquainted with the city and the valley of Mexico.

"At this time", Dr. I L. Stright, director of graduate studies at Indiana State College, said, "it is impossible to state exact costs. We believe, however, that $400 will cover all fees, round-trip transportation by air from Pittsburgh to Mexico, hotel on the night of arrival in Mexico City, and transportation to Xalapa."

"During the session students will live with private families at a cost for room and board of about $2 per day. The above estimate does not include personal expenses, optional excursions and tours, or a post-session stay in Mexico City," Dr. Stright added.

Further information may be obtained from the office of the Division of graduate Studies, or from Dr. E. W. Bieghler, Department of Foreign languages.

Campus Building Plans Authorize Construction Worth Nine Million

Completed by 1964

An Indiana State College campus plan projected to 1970 and beyond has been revealed by college authorities. The projected plan is tentative and subject to change because of a variety of possibilities, Dr. Willis E. Pratt, president of the college, emphasized to the general public.

If the plan materializes, however, it would involve a massive building program as well as the acquisition of many properties bordering the present campus.

Actually, one project on the campus plan is already underway. It includes the construction of a new football field, stadium seats and other athletic facilities on the site known locally as the Glassworks.

Work at the athletic area will also include construction of an intramural field, two baseball fields, a softball field, soccer field and practice football field as well as development of a parking area.

Now underway, Dr. Pratt said, is the construction of three new dormitories on the present athletic field. Contracts for this work were recently let at a total amount of about $2.3 million.

Six other projects are on the drafting boards for "the very near future" — probably within three years.

They include:

(1) — A new gymnasium and field house on South Eleventh Street near Glass Street. Funds were recently allocated for this structure, a facility that will seat 5,000 fans and will be constructed at an estimated mater cost of $2.1 million.

(2) — A home economics building that will be situated on East Campus near John Sutton Hall.

(3) — A dining hall ticketed for the southwest corner of Eleventh and Grant Streets.

(4) — An addition to Walsh Science Hall, a project that will probably more than double the size of the present building.

(5) — A men's dormitory near the corner of Oakland Avenue and School Street.

(6) — A women's dormitory in the same area — near the corner of Oakland Avenue and School Street.

Indiana State College continues its expansion program with the announcement that it intends to purchase the Thaddeus Stevens Elementary School from Indiana Borough School Board.

Announcement of the college's intention followed closely General State Authority approval of $300,000 to acquire and convert the Third Ward structure into college classrooms.

Dr. Willis E. Pratt, ISC president, said the college plans to tear down the old portion of the building, erect a new facade and provide additional parking facilities for use by the college.

The school building is one of three now being used in the borough for elementary students.

The school board said tentative plans call for additions to the Eisenhower and Horace Mann Schools if the proposed sale goes through. The additions would take care of students who will be displaced.

Dr. Pratt and school borough officials emphasized that the project is not completed. The building is directly across from the main college campus.

The state authority also approved $250,000 to be used for an addition to the college power plant and distribution system.

Construction is now underway on three new dormitories for women on the site of the Memorial Athletic Field at the college in Indiana. Total bids for this construction amount to $2,288,697.

The project will include the dismantling of six frame houses on Grant Street and construction of the dormitories on the present football field. Work started on October 30.

The contractors are: General construction, John MsShain, Inc., Philadelphia, $1,624,000; heating and ventilating, Dougherty Co., Inc., Freeport, $229,457; plumbing, Gardest Plumbing Co., Pittsburgh, $228,840, and electric, Electrical Contractors Associates, Inc., Altoona, $206,400.

Dr. Willis E. Pratt, president of the college, said the work is to be completed in 20 months. He said the buildings will probably be ready for occupancy by the fall semester of 1963.

Work is already under way on a new stadium which replaces College Memorial Field, site of the new dormitories. The new athletic area is located on the old Glassworks property.

The frame houses that will be dismantled are, for the most part, currently occupied by resident students. They are located in the 1000 block of Grant Street near the 11th Street intersection.

Additional work will include the dismantling of the bleachers on the present football field.

The three new dormitories, Dr. Pratt indicated, will be situated in somewhat of a quadrangle with the open side facing to the north. The area will be landscaped into additional campus for the college.

Dr. Pratt also emphasized that two more dormitories are in the planning stages here, one for women and one for men. They are proposed for the north end of the campus near School Street.

Plans for the construction of a privately-owned dormitory for Indiana State College students have been announced by an Indiana corporation.

The dormitory, to be located on Oakland Avenue within one block of the campus, is being constructed by Colonial Land, Inc. Incorporators of the Colonial Land firm are Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Spadafora and William A. Spadafora, all of Indiana.

When completed, the structure will house 136 women students and a head resident from the college. Tentative completion date is January 15, 1962.

Colonial Land did not disclose the construction cost.

The venture, however, is believed to be one of the most ambitious undertakings of its kind in the history of both the college and the community.

"It (the investment) is indicative of my feeling toward the community. Indiana, I believe has a great future," Cecil Spadafora, one of the incorporators said.

"I have a great faith in both the college and Dr. (Willis E.) Pratt, the president," Mr. Spadafora added. "It (the college) is the fastest growing industry in Indiana County."

When completed, the dormitory named Wyoming Hall, will compare favorably with Wahr Hall, the second largest women's dormitory on the Indiana campus. The Colonial building, housing 136 students, will be slightly smaller than the Wahr dormitory which is presently occupied by 152 women students.

In discussing his plans for the dormitory, Mr. Spadafora said the building is being constructed in such a way that it may be converted into either an efficiency apartment building or a motel.

Work on the dormitory began Saturday. Dill Construction Co. La-trobe, is the contractor while John Haney, Indiana, is the subcontractor for plumbing and heating. Mr. Spadafora said five contractors, including local firms, were invited to submit bids.

The three-story brick building will be constructed on the McLaren estate.

It will be laid out so that each room may be occupied by two girls with four girls sharing a bath and a large walk-in clothes closet.

This building will be modern, convenient, and readily accessible to the Indiana campus. It has been planned as a comfortable home away from home for Indiana College women students.

The overall dimensions of this building will be approximately 209 feet on the west side and 181 feet on the east side. The building has all the necessary facilities for comfortable, gracious living, recreation and study.

A floor by floor description indicates there will be a large recreation room on the ground floor facing toward Oakland Avenue. On the west side of the ground floor there will be fourteen typical plan bedrooms to accommodate a total of twenty-eight girls.

Each bedroom will be 12' 4" wide and 16' 6" long. Each two bedrooms will have a large 6' 4" by 8' 10" walk-in closet to accommodate clothing space for four girls and an 8' 4" by 8' 10" bath for each four girls.

The bedrooms on the ground floor have full length windows in each room on the west side of the corridor. On the east side there will be a large TV room, a music room, a recreation room, a boiler room, a laundry room with modern coin operated machines, and three large storage rooms for luggage, trunks, etc.

In addition there will be two utility rooms on the west side of the corridor.

The recreation room, which will be multi-sided, will be at its longest point about 50 feet in length and at its widest point around 40 feet.

All the bedrooms on the ground, first, and second floors follow the pattern as shown in the typical layout drawing. The 16' 6" by 12' 4" bedrooms will contain two beds on one wall, with a night stand between, desks and dresser space, two lounge chairs, and other accessories.

On the first floor there will be 26 bedrooms to accommodate 52 girls.

There is a large attractive, comfortable lounge facing Oakland Avenue and having glass construction for viewing out on the avenue. The front on Oakland Avenue is fifty-six feet with the main entrance on the side nearest the principal college buildings (about 300-400 feet from Cogswell Hall, the music building).

In addition on the first floor there is an apartment and office for the head resident, and a utility room.

On the second floor there are 28 bedrooms with the same typical layout to accommodate 56 Indiana women students. In addition there are two utility rooms on the second floor.

The general construction of the building will be masonry block with brick veneer. Stairways and corridors will comply with Commonwealth Labor and Industry standards.

Foreign Languages Department Professor works at the Language Laboratory Controls.

Old-Timers Held Testimonial Dinner Honoring Coach Miller at Homecoming

Old timer alumni who were students closely associated with George P. Miller, during his long tenure as a college faculty member at Indiana State College, held a testimonial dinner for him October 14, Homecoming Day, at 6:30 p.m., at the Indiana Country Club.

This gathering, sponsored by a committee of his former students closely associated with him in his ventures as an athletic coach and teacher at Indiana State College, was planned as a quiet get together testimonial for the outstanding work of Mr. Miller, as a college faculty member for 35 years until his retirement in June, 1961.

The local committee for arrangements included: Paul McGregor, Donald Miller, and Franklin H. George.

"About seventy-five of Mr. Miller's closest former students attended this dinner," the committee on local arrangements said.

As a gift the men presented him with a nice set of golf clubs.

Mr. Miller came to Indiana in the fall of 1926 as head coach and teacher of health and physical education. During the 1925-26 year he had been at Columbia University where he completed work on his master's degree.

From 1921 to 1923 he worked for two years as a physical education supervisor and teacher at Wauwatosa, Wisconsin public schools. Mr. Miller graduated from the LaCrosse State University, LaCrosse, Wisconsin.

He received his bachelor of science and master of arts degrees from Columbia University in New York City. He has taken additional graduate work at the University of Illinois, Pennsylvania University, Northwestern University, and New York University.

During his long tenure at Indiana State College, Mr. Miller served as a teacher of health and physical education and coach of many athletic sports. For a number of years he was head coach of football, basketball, baseball, and other sports.

Many of his teams during the period from 1926 to the beginning of World War II were historic record teams at Indiana State College. At one time or another he has coached all of the intercollegiate athletic endeavors at Indiana State College.

He became head of the health and physical education department in 1938, serving also much of the time after that as head coach and director of athletics. After 1951 he served chiefly as the academic head of the department of health and physical education.

Active for many years as a member of the National Education Association, the Pennsylvania State Education Association, the Association of State College Faculties in Pennsylvania and the Association for Health and Physical Education, Mr. Miller has also been active in community affairs. He is a past president of the Indiana Lions Club, and is a member of the boards of the Indiana Fair Association and the Pennsylvania Heart Association.

He is also a member of the board of the Indiana County Chapter of American Red Cross for which organization he long served as chairman of the first aid and water safety programs.

Throughout the years Mr. Miller received many honors in education. He was president of the Pennsylvania State Teachers College Athletic Conference from its founding in 1950 to 1957, and in 1956 was president of the Pennsylvania Association for Safety Education.

Mr. Miller was a pioneer in driver education and safety here at Indiana State College and in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Throughout his long career, Mr. Miller not only emphasized intercollegiate athletics but also the value of physical activities which could be used for recreational purposes throughout a lifetime.

He was at one time or another a director of playgrounds, editor of Physical Education magazines, a promoter of intramural athletics, and above all a promoter of participation sports that people could use as physical activity hobbies over a lifetime.

At the time of Mr. Miller's retirement in 1961, the Board of Trustees of Indiana State College appointed him as a Professor Emeritus of the College.

Activities of the Alumni Units

PITTSBURGH-NORTH BOROUGH'S UNIT

The "Fall Roundup" of the Pittsburgh-North Boroughs Unit took place on Saturday, September 16, at the home of Sylvia Smith Higbee, on McKnight Boulevard. The long tables, set up in the recreation room, were filled with happy alumni and friends, who enjoyed the delicious picnic, corn roast type of food which is so popular and delicious in the fall, that was prepared and served by the Ways and Means Committee.

It had its "planning session" earlier in the season at the home of Edna Heine Sage, who proved to be a delightful hostess to the group.

Sylvia Smith Higbee welcomed us to her lovely home. The president, Miss Mildred Pauch, presided and Mrs. Sage pronounced the Invocation. At the business meeting, Miss Catharine Taylor, recording secretary, read the minutes of the June picnic and Miss Margaret Allen, treasurer, presented her report. Annual dues were received, and the delightful new year books, prepared by Miss Winifred Orr, were graciously received.

This happy occasion came to a close with a most enjoyable game session.

Plans are well underway for the Benefit Card Party which will be held on November 18, at the Bellevue YMCA, with the entire Ways and Mean Committee in charge.

Miss Margaret Bardonner's private project is operation Aprons. All during the year, she makes these beautiful aprons which she has on display and sale at the Beneat Card Party. Her efforts always net a tidy sum for our unit.

The Christmas Luncheon Party will be held at the Congress of Clubs, December 9. Stories and pictures will be presented by Mrs. R. W. Smith. Arrangements are being made by Mrs. Ruth Kennedy, Mrs. Adelaide Clark, and Mrs. Mary M. Emmert.

Mrs. Clara Anderson Plank and Mrs. Sylvia Smith Higbee graciously thanked the members for their many thoughtful acts during their recent summer illnesses.

INSTANO 1912

Sarah Stackhouse Esch arranged the Instano 1912 Fall luncheon, to be held at the Fairfax, Pittsburgh, on Saturday, November 4. Further plans for our return to the college for our fiftieth reunion were discussed.

Instano 1912, namesake of the Instano Year Book originated by the 1912 class of Indiana State Normal School, is made up of a group of seventy members of that class. It is open to any and all class members.

For sixteen years, this group has had two meetings each year, in the fall and spring. They are held in places selected by a volunteer committee, sometimes in Washington or Westmoreland Counties, but most often in and about Pittsburgh, except for the spring of reunion years, when we return to Indiana for Alumni Day. We come from near and far, even from Florida, Texas or California.

This class of 1912 is unique in its loyalty to the College and the Alumni Association, and in deep and lasting friendship among its members.

We have supported the College and the Alumni Association in all their projects and fund drives. As a class, we have contributed over $500 to the Wilson Hall project; over $800 to the Library Fund and pledged $300 to the Athletic Field. As members of Alumni Units we have contributed time, effort and money to such projects as Jane E. Leonard scholarship fund, and to the Organ Fund. As individuals we were also instrumental in securing substantial contributions to these projects from friends of the Alumni and the College.

Our class has been honored by having two members elected to the Presidency of the Alumni Association. On our twenty-fifth anniversary, Adelaide Ramsay Clarke was chosen to serve the 1937-39 term. When we assemble for our fiftieth reunion at the Alumni meeting on May 26, 1962, we will find our own Helen Brennan presiding.

To her, to the Alumni Association and to our beloved Alma Mater, we pledge our continued devotion and support.

CLASS OF 1943 REUNION

● Seven members of the class of 1943, with their families, gathered in September for a reunion. Site of their meeting was Chatterbrook Farm near Meadville, home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Charlton. For most, it was their first meeting since graduation.

Present were: Hostess Mary Charlton of Chicago; Vivian Grube Rea and son of Cochran-ton; Ted and Mae Jean Fordyce Frizell and daughter of Hamburg, New York; Margaret King Diehl and two children of Pittsburgh; Lewis and Jane Everall Yeager and three children of Sharpsville; George and Myrtis Karle Mohr and daughter of Oil City, and Ruth Pringle Armington and two children of Logansport, Indiana.

PHILADELPHIA UNIT

On October 28, the Philadelphia Unit came by train and by car to the attractive home of Mr. and Mrs. Carleton A. Ter Bush, Drexel Hill. Philadelphia favored with a near-perfect autumn day.

Besides three officers and the stand-by members present, the unit reports with delight that three others attended for the first time, Bernice Davison Davis, Mae Stephens Robinson, and Margaret Cravener Viguers.

Hostess Lily McKain Ter Bush, with the help of her artist daughter, served a delicious luncheon only superlatives would describe.

After secretary Patsy Watson High read the minutes, President Helen Bruner Snyder led a discussion for improvement in attendance and in paying of dues. The date for the winter meeting was set for March 17 at the Women's University Club house in Philadelphia.

During the luncheon conversation turned to the lighter side of life and many jokes were exchanged especially those involving children. Time went so rapidly that after the business it was a surprise to find that the afternoon had passed.

THE PITTSBURGH UNIT

The second monthly meeting of the Pittsburgh Unit was held October 3, at the Penn Hills home of Margaret North Bush. We were glad to have Miss Marianne Baumbach, a former member of the Indiana Faculty, with us. Our president, Gladys Elcessor, appointed five members to represent the Unit at Home-Coming Day October 14. Plans for a new membership drive were discussed and suggestions for ways and means to expand the contents of our treasury were considered and a committee appointed.

The third meeting, November 7, was held in Wilkinsburg, at the home of Letitia McClay Fulton. Miss Zoe Thralls, also a former faculty member at Indiana, was our special guest. Betty Piper and Nelda Shaffer, absent from many meetings because of illness, were heartily welcomed. Excellent reports on Home-Coming Day and the College were given. The committee in charge of the candy sale reported a complete sellout. The Christmas dinner will be held on Tuesday, December 12, at 6 p.m., at the Women's City Club in the Penn Sheraton Hotel.

Two of our members, Helen Brennen, President of the General Alumni, and Mary Fallon Pardini, Principal of the Minadeo Elementary School, both residents of Mt. We extend sympathy to Beatrice Fleming Harvey whose sister, Mrs. Edith Powers, of Indiana, Pa., passed away.

Mrs. Flossie Wagner Sanford, of Verona, will be our hostess for the next regular meeting, January 2.

From The President of the College To All Alumni Of Indiana State College

During the past decade, your Alma Mater, Indiana State College, has undergone many changes. From a Teachers College enrolling 1,500 students, it has grown to be the largest State College in Pennsylvania, having an enrollment of 3,500 undergraduate students and more than 1,000 graduate students taking work in eleven major fields.

The College campus has undergone considerable expansion of its facilities during the past decade as well. In 1950, the College was comprised of seven major buildings, on a campus of approximately fifty acres. At the present time the campus has fifteen major buildings on a campus of more than eighty acres.

During the next ten years, even changes will take place. It is expected that the College enrollment will reach 5,600 students by 1970 and the campus will have thirty-four major buildings located on a campus of one hundred twenty acres in size. At the present time $9,000,000 has been appropriated for new buildings which will be constructed during the next two or three years, including five new dormitories, a home economics building, a new dining room, an addition to the science building of thirty classrooms, a new field house seating 5,000 people, and a new athletic field which is now underway. By 1970, ten more buildings will be constructed, making a total of thirty-four major buildings in all.

The program will be greatly augmented, as well. The recent session of legislature authorized state colleges to offer work leading to the Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science Degrees. Our faculty is now preparing a liberal arts curriculum which will be submitted to the State Council of Education for approval during the next year or two. This curriculum will prepare graduates for many other professions as well as teaching, which will result in changing the nature of the Institution itself.

I am very happy to report that the American Association of University Women now includes Indiana on its accredited list so that our graduates are entitled to join a local chapter of the AAUW in the future. Incidentally, Indiana is the only state college in the Commonwealth which has been accredited by this organization.

Unfortunately, the Alumni Association has not kept pace with the growth of the College during the past decade. If the College is to meet its obligations in the future, it will be necessary that our loyal and devoted alumni members continue to support the College in every way possible.

Will you, therefore, ally yourself with the other thousands of alumni in supporting your Alumni Association by joining that group today. In addition, the Alumni Association is continuing its campaign for annual giving by which each member is asked to pledge an amount of $3.00, $5.00, or $10.00 each year to support his College. The "Annual Giving Fund" will enable the Alumni Association to prepare materials such as the Alumni Bulletin, the Newsletter, and other publications sent to the Alumni members.

Won't you plan to join the Alumni Association today (if you are not now a member) and pledge your fair share of annual giving to the Alumni Association. Since this is a state institution, Alumni may not feel the responsibility for supporting their Alma Mater; but since every student who attended Indiana was the recipient of a sizable share of the costs of their college education, I feel confident that we can count on many of our Alumni for their support.
